GALVANIZED IRON COFFINS.

THE subscribers have become agents for the patent GALVANIZED IRON COFFINS, a new article finished in the most beautiful manner and made of what has proved by years of experience to be the most imperishable of all materials.

This article in shape and outward appearance resembles a highly finished rawwood coffin. It is much less awkward in appearance, lighter, more efficient and easier handed than the iron coffins which have been used for several years past.

It is made of iron, which is not so strong as wood, but much lighter, and is not so expensive.

The Empress Eugenie has invented a new style of petticoat, and elaborate descriptions are published by the fashion papers. It is made of cambria muslin six yards at the widest point and is flounced frilled and hemstitched like a pocket handkerchief so as to put it out of reach of scissoring machines and render it exclusive.

THE GLORIOUS FUTURE.

Both houses of Congress have passed the Free Homestead bill, and the House of Representatives has passed the Pacific Railroad bill. We can add nothing to the force with which this must strike the mind of readers everywhere. It tells of a government so confident of its strength, and so comprehensive in its policy, as to mark the era with an imperial grandeur. From the embarrassments of past struggles the nation seems to be emerging in bold, manly and resolute a form that all European or domestic doubts of its future must be dissipated like the mists of the morning before the power of the sun.

The records of a quarter of a century are darkened by excitements and troubles over slavery in Washington and in the territories; but in the first year of our new era we have freed the national capital and the territories from all further dangers on that score. We struggled fearfully for many a year to keep freedom even with servitude in the number of States. Now we have conquered the future. The new States will all be free, and a dozen of them are already in embryo. We tried various expedients to encourage the rapid settlement of the west, and squabbled main; and now we have enacted the vastest scheme of all—we have given every man a right to a tract of land if he occupies it with his homestead. Since the war began we have built an overland telegraph line clear across the continent, and now we are about to have a Pacific Railroad.

Those who fancied that the effect of the war must be to check permanently the rapidity with which our country has grown, may see in these measures their mistake. This war has quickened all the sources of popular energy, given tenfold vigor to the national life, and taught us that our future is entirely in our own hands, and we have no reason to fear any enemy. The free homestead bill, which now only requires the signature of the President to become a law, will raise up the mighty multitudes who drudge in poverty, and gathering them in one vast bower from the shores of Europe to those of the Mississippi, sweep onward into the immense wilderness which lies in the heart of the continent, awaiting the hand of civilization to evoke States and cities from its prolific soil.

Those who have been amazed at the military uprising of this great nation will find a new and still greater wonder in this movement of population. Let but the poor German, or Irishman, or Englishman, know that here he can have a homestead free of cost by simply occupying it with his family and taking out his papers, and from those remote regions where the swarming millions have been so long accustomed to look to America as a land of promise, there will be such an outpouring as never was seen before. Men will no longer be content to incur continual dangers of starvation in those vast hives of population, where humanity has become so wretched and suffering, when they can be owners of land, independent farmers, and above want by migrating to America. Under the impulse of this movement our territories will expand into States with a suddenness requiring all the enterprise and intelligence of our native population to supply the organizing forces, and garrison and conscript to the mighty masses. Here will be such openings for the vigorous young minds of the United States, that they, too, will be leaving us to link their fortunes with the rising communities of the distant west.

In this condition of things the Pacific railroad becomes a necessity. We will have to improve railways as we did iron-clad steamers, and with the great main artery pushed forward as the plow now in the movement, confidence will be imparted to emigrants. Capital will seek investment readily in an enterprise whose future is so conspicuous, and following in the pathway of improvement, awoke, as with a magic wand, all the constituents of a flourishing civilization. These measures, therefore, not only harmonize together, but are indispensable to each other, and form part of the grand national movement.

Re-opening of Southern Ports.

The appointment of a Collector of the customs for the port of New Orleans, taken in connection with the orders issued by Secretary Seward for the re-opening of trade to a certain extent, seem suspicious of that bright day when the rebellion being crushed, this noble empire shall resume her course of commerce, and dazzle with the white sails of her ships the southern seaboard. It is also reported that the government intends to open to general trade the ports of Newbern, Beaufort, Fernandina and New Orleans, and has notified foreign ambassadors of that fact.

There will be some difficulty at first in getting this trade into working order, as the lines at the south have thus far been found to be so strictly drawn against us as to prevent the people from entering freely into any commercial intercourse; but once let the ports named be supplied with merchandise at reasonable rates, and what will drive customers thither from all parts of the southern interior. This is of more importance than might at first appear, as the people who derive their supplies from those sources will not be slow to appreciate the difference between the Union which brings them these blessings and Disunion which brought them war.

Already in Tennessee the occupation of that State by United States troops has produced the effect of drawing forth from the plantations the crops of cotton and tobacco which had been stored, and large quantities continue to pour into Nashville, taken thereby by planters whom the rebel authorities had ordered to burn their crops, but to whom the inducements of a good market and ready money have proved irresistible. Thus commerce will be the real conqueror of rebellion, and we cannot too much hasten the day of his triumph.

TRUE INTERPRETATION OF A REBEL PRAYER.—A Republican friend sends us a prayer of the Bishop of Louisiana, for "the Confederacy," and also a version of his own as to what it means and to his mind plainly says,—as our reader is not sufficient to publish both we give herewith only the version of our friend, by which we think however that the style and import of the Bishop's effort will be readily detected and understood. En Nieuw.

Lord our Heavenly Father, look down from on high, and have mercy we beseech thee on these American States who have fled to thee with our divine institution of slavery from the rod of the oppressors.—Help us O Lord, to sustain our institutions as it now is. In these we trust, and unto these we appeal for help in our righteous cause. O Lord we would with thy permission, plant our divine system of slavery over all this fair land. We would make it so desirable, that all, ye North and South would flourish and grow fat with the wealth produced by the labor of the slave.

O Lord we pray thee make our leaders valiant, subtle and cunning in battle and Council. Enable them we pray thee to hold all that thy two servants Jefferson Davis, and John Floyd so wisely possessed themselves of before our oppressors in their wickedness demanded restitution.—O Lord in thy justice defend the cruel designs of our adversaries continue them that when we have got, which they so wickedly plan, plunder belongs to us and never did belong to them.

O Lord make them understand thy laws as we understand them, make them to know that Thou Shalt Not Steal, and the Ten Commandments, taken as a whole, are old and obsolete and far behind this enlightened age and people.

O let, thy just anger make them tremble and render them powerless. Be thou, present, O Lord, with our Counsellors, enable them to establish slavery, enslave them with the tool of our oppressors.

We pray Thee stop the effusion of blood, among the faithful, but smite the Northern heathen, ye! even as it was in old times from Dan to Bethel. Let them know that our God is a terrible God. That He gave us the divine institution of slavery and that he will sustain it.

O Lord, we pray thee not wholly to destroy the Northern people, we would have Thee spare some. We would especially command our faithful Allies to thy favorable notice. O Lord, they pray in secret for our just cause. May their prayers be answered and peace be restored and may the enlightened South give laws to the whole people.

O merciful and ever righteous Lord God we pray thee, make the whole nation understand what its true interests are. Dispose them to reopen the slave trade, so that its blessed influences may shine upon every white man that can own one of those useful domestic animals.

O Lord, we pray thee to increase our number of slaves, ten fold, that we thy people, may not labor as the heaviest burdens of the North do. O Lord, make it a shame and disgrace for any white man to labor with his hands. Endow thy people with strength and vigour of body, impress their minds with the benefits of amalgamation and give unto the faithful a great increase of birth. Millions, and may our planters obtain remunerative prices for their surplus stock.

O Lord, make our slaves humble and submissive, it is for our interest and their happiness for them to remain ignorant of the curse (to them) of freedom. And truly O Lord, shower down upon our rulers and the millions they represent all that we may reasonably request of them, in thy name and by the merits of a merciful redeemer. Amen.

On Tuesday a prominent Southern woman entered one of the best-known shops in Washington, and was complimented on her supposed success in obtaining the release of a friend under arrest for treason. In a loud voice, and in the presence of many witnesses, she answered, "I asked Mr. Lincoln to let him out, and he refused; and I would like to be the Charlotte Corday who would kill the tyrant."

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

FIRE.—There was an alarm of fire at 10 o'clock this morning, when it was discovered that the barn of Hon. Wm. C. Corcoran, in the rear of his residence, near the Cock, was on fire. Our firemen were quickly on hand with their usual promptness, and yet, but for the usual good fortune to our city in regard to the circumstances of "wind and weather," this would have been a serious affair. The barn was nearly destroyed, and the house of Mr. George Norman, on Bridge street, was in the most danger from the fire, and had just occurred in the night, or with south wind, the house of Mr. Norman could scarcely have escaped. The barn was insured for three hundred dollars. We would suggest that there seems to be a need of some repairs in the hose department, as there were several leakages, and "poulticing" was necessary. This was, doubtless, owing to our long immunity from the destructive element, and this occurrence will, no doubt, cause a thorough overhauling in this department.

GOOD MUSIC.—The music rendered by Trinity Church Choir on yesterday deserves especial comment. The boys were on that occasion under the charge of Dr. Cutler, the director of music, both in this church and in Trinity at New York, who brought with him from the metropolis two young gentlemen of his New York choir, with whose assistance the music was rendered very beautifully. Dr. C. is considered the most accomplished organist and director of church music in this country, and the result of his management of boy choirs was yesterday shown to be a gratifying success.

WHERE ARE THE BELLS?—It was between fifteen and twenty minutes after the alarm of fire was given this morning, before a single bell note was pealed forth. The first bell which gave the alarm was the Catholic which was about the farthest one from where the fire occurred. The new alarm bell on the city Hall was not heard at all and we are inclined to think it gave no alarm. What is the matter with it? Has it been melted up to make balls for the Parrott Gun.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—Last evening the usual Sabbath School Concerts occurred at the First Baptist Church and the Central. The exercises were of the usually highly interesting character and seemed to be well appreciated, as the aspasia of both the above named churches were crowded. The Monthly Concert of the 2d Baptist Church Sabbath School will occur next Sunday evening.

A HORSE belonging to Daniel T. Swinburn jumped out of his harness in Arnott street Saturday afternoon, throwing out a boy who was sitting in the wagon, but was caught before he had time to do any serious damage. En Nieuw.

THE FISH TRAPS near Castle Hill were torn away yesterday morning by the tide, damaging them considerably and letting out over five hundred barrels of fish.

SCARLET TOMATOES made their appearance in our markets this morning. These are the first that have appeared this season.

Change in the Seat of War.—The Richmond Whig is led by repeated disasters to take a new view of the position of the campaign. It says:

"We have now arrived at the second stage of the war. It is plain that our government committed an error in relying upon the defensibility of coast and coast cities. We think if military science be so inconsistent, as its votaries believe, it would have known the weakness of brick fortifications and the force of modern projectiles."

It was scarcely a less grave error to accumulate military stores, and establish important factories within possible access of the enemy. But we must now accept the situation cum estra, and remedy it as best we may. Our depots of supply, and works of fabrication, must be placed around the base—perhaps within the gorges of the mountain. Atlanta, Charlotte, Danville, Lynchburg, Kingman, Rome, Chattanooga, &c., &c., corresponding in position and connections, should now form the circle of internal defence and supply."

It will be observed that the transfer of the scene of active operations to the mountain districts, would be in some respects very favorable for our forces. It would change the seat of war to a territory where the local population is numerous, and where the enemy would find it very difficult to subdue an army. And it would drag away the main part of our forces from the vicinity of the coast, where the effects of a summer campaign on the health of the troops is most to be feared.

The Avalanche acknowledges a loss of 20 killed and 109 wounded at Tarbutton on Sunday last, and deplorates the adopting of the policy of persecuting men, and says such a course of action by the government is calculated to lead to disastrous results.

The rebel government is becoming unpopular, and the Avalanche does not hesitate to attack it vigorously.

A gentleman who left New Orleans on the 1st says that the Federal war vessels, after having passed the forts, bribed the washerwomen to influence their husbands in the forts to give up. The result was that 880 men spiked the guns and delivered themselves up to the enemy. Gen. Butler is in the city, having come up in the first transport from below.

The Avalanche acknowledges a loss of 20 killed and 109 wounded at Tarbutton on Sunday last, and deplorates the adopting of the policy of persecuting men, and says such a course of action by the government is calculated to lead to disastrous results.

Lieut. Worden, whom Mr. Everett speaks of as a young man, has already been in the service of his country near 30 years, having entered the navy at 14, and being now about 44 years of age. As he has not yet received a commander's commission, it will be apparent that promotion in the navy is not rapid.

A letter from Charleston recently received at Philadelphia, says that the recent Union victories have produced a profound sensation there. The newspapers and the rebel leaders try to explain them away, and promises future victories, but the people are dispirited. An attack on that city from the Union, forces is daily looked for.

The servants have been sent into the interior of the state for safety, and the citizens, on the other hand, fearing a servile insurrection, seek refuge in Charleston. Business is entirely suspended.

West Point the scene of McClellan's last battle, is a small village, situated in the southerly angle of King William county, Va. at the junction of the Mattaponi and Pamunkey—two rivers which here form the York river. West Point is about twenty-five miles from Yorktown, and about thirty-five miles from Richmond and York River Railway.—Advertiser.

PENSACOLA STILL IN POSSESSION OF THE REBELS.

11,000 MEN THERE.

New York, May 10.—The schooner Monroe, from Port Gibon 24th ult., reports Pensacola still in possession of the rebels with a force of 11,000 men there. General Arnold was awaiting reinforcements and gun-boats before attacking the place.

POSTMASTER FOR NEW ORLEANS.

Washington, May 10.—Major Scott, the principal clerk of the inspection office will leave New York with the mails for New Orleans on Monday. He will reorganize the post office there.

J. L. Kiddle, the former Postmaster, it is understood, can have the office, provided there are no political objections against him.

His last letter to the department,

dated August 19, 1861, says:

"All this has been done with the same good faith that has characterized my previous conduct, in the same manner as if the United States Government had still been prominent in these parts."

His conduct had been honest throughout.

THE NEW JERSEY BRIGADE AT WILLIAMSBURG.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS MURDERED BY THE REBELS.

New York, May 10.—The Philadelphia Inquirer gives an account of the gallant inquirer in which the New Jersey Brigade defeated the rebels at Williamsburg and says it was estimated that the loss of the Jersey Brigade would amount to nearly one-third of the number actually engaged, although official information may reduce it.

The officers and men without exception behaved admirably under the hottest fire. Many of our men were found dead with a bayonet and bowie knife thrust, who had only been wounded by bullets in the legs or arms, showing that the rebels inhumanely murdered our living, but helpless men.

THE SPECIFIC PILL.
A SPECIFIC REMEDY FOR Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, and Genital Irritability in either Sex.

This Malady, the terrible consequences of which are too well known to require more than a bare allusion to them, is one of the most insidious, and therefore dangerous, all the long catalogue of human ills. It saps the very springs of life, rapidly undermines the constitution, and sinks the unhappy victim into imbecility and a premature grave.
From one to six boxes of the SPE-CIFIC PILL are sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the MOST AGGRAVATED CASES, whether Constitutional, or arising from Abuse or Excesses.

MEDICAL TESTIMONY.

"We believe it to be, in the treatment of Spermatorrhœa, as near a SPECIFIC as any medicine can be." —Dr. KIRK, M. D. [Am. Jour. of Medical Science].

"I have found them all that could be desired. I used them in a case of Spermatorhœa of long standing, which has been under treatment for years. I think three boxes will complete the cure." —E. P. DICKEE, M.D.

This is not a Homoeopathic Remedy, nor is there any mercury or other deleterious ingredient combined with it.

PRICE.—$1 per Box. Six Boxes for $6.

able Druggists, and at the Solo General Depot in the United States, by Medicines.

PROF. L. MILLER'S
HAIR INVIGORATOR
AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMI-CAL COMPOUND.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color, without drying, and preventing Hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SOURE AND DAN-DUFF, and all cutaneous affections of the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparts to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture,
and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convinces the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use.

It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, causes the hair to grow luxuriantly, and gives it rich, soft, glossy and flexible appearance, so that when the hair is loose-ened and thinned, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the system invul-nerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all.

So chemically and skilfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence scatters the weak stomach and tones up the digestive organs, and allay all nervous and other irritation. It is also perfectly exhilarating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits.—
It is composed entirely of vegetables, and those thoroughly combining powerful tonics and astringent properties, and consequently can never injure. As a sure preventive and cure of all kinds of hair diseases.
